

Management of Risk[®] Foundation

Introduction

Management of Risk (M_o_R[®]) is a guide and qualification, launched by the Office of Government Commerce (OGC) in response to many government and private sector initiatives to improve organisation wide risk management.

The APM Group (APMG) has established a syllabus, examination and qualification scheme aligned to the M_o_R[®] guidance. As a result there are now two levels of qualification available - the Foundation and Practitioner certificates.

Steria's Management of Risk course conforms to the syllabus set down by APMG for delegates wishing to gain the M_o_R[®] foundation and practitioner certificates.

Whether delegates are new to Risk Management or just need to understand the M_o_R[®] approach, this course is appropriate and will provide a thorough preparation for the examinations.

Who Will Benefit?

The course will benefit all managers who have some responsibility for the effective management of risk within their organisation.

It is particularly aimed at:

- Risk managers who may be responsible for establishing organisation-wide processes and procedures for risk management, perhaps in response to the requirements of the Combined Code on Corporate Governance
- Programme managers who need to develop structured approaches to management of risk on major change programmes
- Project managers wishing to manage project risk more effectively
- Operations managers responsible for day to-day business as usual who wish to reduce operational risk
- Consultants wishing to understand the latest OGC guidance and gain the new qualifications in order to successfully apply the method for their clients.

It is appropriate for managers of any discipline involved at all levels, but attendees should have an understanding of how their business operates.

Delegates are sent a copy of the M_o_R[®] manual prior to the course, pre-reading will dramatically increase the chance of success in the examination.

Duration

The course is an intensive three-day event and is structured such that candidates are in a position to sit the foundation examination at the end of the third day. You will be expected to undertake evening work, as homework will be set on this course.

Examinations

The Foundation level examination is a closed book, multiple choice paper lasting forty five minutes and is based upon the same syllabus as that of the Practitioner, with the exception of Healthcheck and Maturity Model. The examination is taken at the end of day 3 and the pass mark is fifty percent.
